There were three catastrophes on the Atlantic Coast Line during the twenty-four hours, one being at Center Hill, another at a point near Kelley's mill. Prairie Creek, and the incident related above. Fortunately, however, there was no one seriously hurt, the only damage being to the rolling stock of the company, which in the former two instances was quite a loss in damage, etc.

The track was cleared as promptly as possible, and trains ran on their regular schedules through Gainesville, both directions, yesterday.
